

Prophecy from January 1, 2023

Given by Nancy Campbell

I believe the spirit of the Lord would speak and say;

“Yes, my sons and daughters, My children, you have been through great difficulties in the last year but I tell you do not fret because of that because this was a birthing process, a birthing process of what I am about to do. It was necessary for you to go through these changes so that I could birth the things in you that I desire to birth in you that many will come to know Me; that miracles will come forth from your hands; that people will be healed.

So, do not fret and worry about all you went through. It was all because of what I have for you, it was My plan for you. Not that you would suffer but that you would grow and deal with the things in your life that you need to deal with so that you would be pure and holy before Me.

It is more important than ever this year that you walk in My holiness and My purity, white as snow. Again, don't allow yourself to be led into things, even a little bit, that are not from Me, for I want a holy and pure bride.

All that you went through last year was because of that; because I'm purifying you. I am giving birth. This is going to be a year of giving birth. Even as a mother goes through pains, birth pains as she's going into labor; so, My body, through the last year has gone through birth pains because of what I am going to bring forth this year.

There will be great fruit because you have born this pain and suffering even as a mother does. You will give birth this year! You will give birth to great things! You will see miracles happen! You will see those people you want to be saved, drawn in; but you must walk with your head held high in holiness and purity.

Move than ever before this is necessary because there is great change coming upon the face of the earth this year and yes, there will be darkness but your light is going to shine brighter than ever, brighter than you could have even thought because you have been purified in the blood of the Lamb and you have come through it! I say, you have come through it, sons and daughters.

Be encouraged. This will be a year of breakthrough, a year of birthing, a year of great increase in My kingdom because I am going to come down to the earth and I am going to show My glory. Darkness will be exposed and things that have been hidden, even in My body, the body of Christ are going to be exposed.

Do it be surprised; do not be confused; do not blame Me and say are you doing this? Give glory to Me and walk with your head held high in holiness and you will see the things that I am going to do come to pass.

This is a year of victory, says the spirit of God! It's a year of victory!
Do not let the enemy discourage you trying to tell you, no, it doesn't look like victory.
Don't be confused. This is a year of victory and you will give birth as you hang on to Me and let My light shine.
